Additional Testimony before the Investigating Committee—The Friday Night Meeting in Plymouth Church.—The Assistant Pastor Tells About Mr Beecher's Weight

NEW YORK July 25—At a session of Plymouth Church Investigating Committee last evening Oliver Johnson testified in relation to an interview between himself and Mr Tilton in [illegible] In this interview Tilton stated [illegible] he [illegible] for the first time [illegible] Beecher's conduct [illegible] Beecher having [illegible] [illegible] ters

There [illegible] Tilton [illegible] at the [illegible] prayer meeting last night but several of the [illegible] known members of Plymouth Church were [illegible] The hymns given out were consolatory in their tendence and in the prayers warm [illegible] suffering pastor and most earnest solicitations for his safe deliverance were expressed Rev Mr Halliday assistant pastor closed the service by giving out the hymn [illegible] which was sung with feeling. After the benediction had been pronounced and the members gathered in groups Mr Halliday spoke so that all might hear him "I suppose you are all anxious to hear how Brother Beecher is to night. I left him only an hour and a half ago and he is in admirable spirits and I believe weighs more than he has for years" Halliday said later that he tried to get Beecher to attend the meeting but he believed the pastor was too busy and hurried

Being asked if Beecher was still preparing his statements Halliday replied "Possibly I don't know but he has them already prepared" The next session of the Investigating Committee will be held Monday night

Another Firebrand Flung into the Difficulty—The Woodhull Female Proposes to Take a Hand and Vindicate Theodore

NEW YORK July 25—Victoria Woodhull and Tennie C Claflin have arrived in New York from their Western lecturing tour In conversation with a reporter the former said Tilton had begun the battle nobly and when his strength failed she would take it up She said both sides have told horrible lies about the matter She cared little for Beecher's relations with Mrs Tilton but could and would show that he was as much a free lover as Theodore Tilton. When the time comes for her to speak out the world would stand aghast at the hypocrisy of Beecher

Victoria Woodhull said she came straight here from San Francisco to take part in this fight as she looked on this as her own fight [illegible] principle she advocates She said in an interview to day "I know very well why this great pressure has been brought to bear to hush the truth It is because many persons are frightened to death that all the facts will be known And [illegible] what have they to be frightened about?" Let them come out and I with stand public opinion I have read Tilton's statement. Every word is true The only fault I find is that Theodore has only told one third of what he ought and might He wants to shield some one else He has been a sorely injured man. He ought to speak out and show that charity which he displayed in living with his wife for years when he knew all The public will not be likely to be satisfied with Beecher's simple verbal denial Let me tell you about the sentiment in the West and I have had excellent opportunities for [illegible] Its current is strongly in favor of Mr [illegible] Of Frank Moulton she said "He has been between Mr Tilton and Mr Beecher throughout this affair and he has done his duty to both I don't believe he will shirk now His testimony will be of the utmost importance All that Tilton has said will be proven He has letters in his possession and I know he will produce them Without Frank's evidence I think they would crush Tilton by so many influential members of Plymouth Church are bent on doing it Only the other day when I met Moulton he said 'Theodore shall not be crucified' and he meant what he said Yes I know something of inside history When they are done I shall speak I shall give some truths which are not known now and some facts which are not now understood" The following question was then asked of Mrs Woodhull "Did Mrs. Tilton confess to you that she had been faithless to her marriage vows?" "I won't answer" exclaimed Mrs Woodhull impulsively Then after a moment's hesitation she added "When I first published the statement that I knew of two eminent persons who were living in concubinage and preaching from their pulpits I was not [illegible] inted with Theodore Tilton"

Mrs. Tilton Makes a Statement—She says [illegible] B. Anthony made her Life Miserable.

NEW YORK July 25—Mrs Tilton to day stated that in the article recently printed expressions are put into her mouth which are more like those of Mr Tilton than any she would use It was true Miss Susan B Anthony had visited her home and [illegible] unfortunately too many of her class to contribute to her happiness that in consequence of such visitors her old and intimate friends had ceased to call upon her and left her alone abandoned to the society of her own preference. Since her separation from Tilton she has received numerous letters from old friends in all parts of the country congratulating her on her withdrawal from the circle of those who had made her home objectionable to them and professing renewed friendship and esteem. She has not the faintest recollection of any such scene as the one described as having occurred in the presence of Miss Susan B Anthony Mrs Tilton denies the statements of some newspapers that her published answer to Tilton's arraignment of Mr Mr Beecher had been prepared by certain lawyers Mrs. Tilton is calm and she expressed entire confidence in the [illegible] result of the present investigation

Mr. Tilton Indignant—He Alleges that his Published Testimony before the Investigating Committee has been Doctored.

NEW YORK July 25—Tilton [illegible] the Committee has dealt unfairly with him and that the reports of what he testified were grossly false To a reporter he said "I wish you would do me the favor to say through the columns of the Argus that though I have hitherto declined being interviewed concerning my appearance before the Committee yet the report from the Committee's counsel is an absolute fabrication I told the Committee distinctly that Mr Beecher had confessed his adultery [illegible] that he had confessed it to Mr Moulton that he had confessed it to another person whom I [illegible] Furthermore I gave the names of several persons who for the last year have been perfectly well aware that Moulton's entire connection with this case from beginning to end, had been based on this one and only corner stone—Beecher's criminality I asked that all these persons be produced before the Committee I asked furthermore the privilege of being present to cross examine Beecher and other witnesses" This was in reply to a statement that he had said he had no other evidence of Beecher's adultery than the confessions of his wife.

THE TILTON-BEECHER CASE.

Text of Tilton's Statement as Submitted to the Investigating Committee

NEW YORK July [illegible]—Following is Mr Tilton's statement to the Plymouth Church Investigating Committee

Gentlemen of the Committee I beg to submit to you a detailed statement of the facts and evidence which I have been for several days expecting at my hands for your consideration of the circumstances which call the statement forth

In my recent letter to Dr Bacon I alluded to an offence and an apology by Rev Henry Ward Beecher [illegible] which [illegible] his account seemed [illegible] to Mr Beecher's own [illegible] the offence was committed by him the apology was made by him both acts were his own and [illegible] [illegible] the most momentous of [illegible] Of all men in Plymouth Church or in the world Rev Henry Ward Beecher was the one man who was the best informed concerning this offence and apology the one man who [illegible] to inquire into either nevertheless while possessing a perfect knowledge of both these acts done by himself he has chosen to put on in public affectation ignorance and innocence concerning them and has conspicuously appointed a committee of six of the ablest men of his church together with two attorneys to inquire into what he leaves you to regard as the unaccountable mystery of this offence and apology—as if he had neither committed the one nor offered the other but as if both were mere figments of another man's imagination thus adroitly prompting the public to draw the deduction that I am a person laboring under some hallucination or a person living in a dream and forging fraud

And furthermore in order to cast over this explanation the lenient glamour which always lends a charm to the defence of woman's honor Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton lately my wife has been prompted away from her home to reside among Mr Beecher's friends and co operate with him in his ostensibly honest and laudable inquiry into facts concerning which she is well as he for years past have had perfect and equal knowledge This investigation thus [illegible] has been publicly pressed upon me by Mr Beecher seconded by Mrs Tilton both of whom [illegible] long have united in assuming before the public the non existence of grave and solemn facts into which they have conspired to investigate for the purpose of not eliciting but of leaving the truth

This joint assumption which has seemed to your committee to be in good faith naturally led you into an explanation in which you expect to find on their part nothing but innocence and on my part nothing but slander. It is my unhappy duty from which I have in vain hitherto sought earnestly to be delivered to give you facts and evidence for reversing your opinion on this subject. In doing this painful I may say heartrending duty the responsibility for making the grave disclosures which I am about to lay before you belongs not to me but first to Mr Beecher who has prompted you to this examination and next to Mrs Tilton who has joined him in a conspiracy which cannot fail to be full of peril and wretchedness to many hearts. I call you to witness, that in my first brief examination by the committee, I begged and implored you not to inquire into the facts of this case but rather seek to bury them beyond all possible revelation Happy for all concerned had this entreaty been heeded It is now too late the last opportunity for reconciliation and settlement has passed

This investigation undertaken by you in ignorance of dangers against which Mr Beecher should have warned you in advance will shortly prove itself, to your surprise, to have been an act of wanton and wicked folly, for which Henry Ward Beecher as its originator and public sponsor will hereafter find no space for repentance though he seek it carefully and with tears. This desperate man must hold himself only and not me accountable for the wretchedness which these disclosures will carry to his own home and heart as they have already brought to mine

I will add that the original documents referred to in the attached sworn statements are for the most portion in my possession but that the apology and a few other papers are in the hands of Francis Moulton Truly yours

(Signed) THEODORE TILTON

TILTON'S SWORN STATEMENT

WHEREAS Rev Henry Ward Beecher has instigated the appointment of a Committee consisting of six members of his Church and Society to inquire and report upon the alleged aspersions upon his character by Theodore Tilton and whereas Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton wife of Theodore Tilton has deserted her home in order to co-operate with Mr Beecher in a conspiracy to overthrow the credibility and good repute of her late husband as a man and citizen therefore Theodore Tilton being thus authorized and by a published demand made upon him by the Rev Henry Ward Beecher and being now and hereafter released by the act of Mrs Tilton from further responsibility for concealment of the truth touching her relations with Mr Beecher, therefore Theodore Tilton hereby sets forth under solemn oath the following facts and testimony

First—That on the 2d of October 1855 at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn a marriage between Theodore Tilton and Elizabeth M Richards was performed by Henry Ward Beecher which marriage thirteen years afterward was dishonored and violated by this clergyman through a criminal seduction of this wife and mother as hereinafter set forth

Second—That for a period of about fifteen years extending both before and after this marriage an intimate friendship existed between Theodore Tilton and Rev Henry Ward Beecher which friendship was cemented to such a degree that in consequence thereof the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] by Mr Beecher of his friend's wife [illegible] [illegible] and perfidy

Third—That about nine years ago Rev Henry Ward Beecher began and thereafter continued friendship with Mr Elizabeth R Tilton for whose native delicacy and extreme religious sensibility he often expressed to her husband high admiration visiting her from time to time for years until the year 1870 when for reasons hereinafter stated he ceased such visits during which period, by many tokens and attentions he won the affectionate love of Mrs Tilton whereby after a long moral resistance by her and after repeated assaults by him upon her mind with overmastering arguments he accomplished possession of her person, maintaining with her thenceforward during the period hereinafter stated the relation called criminal intercourse this relation being regarded by her during that period as not criminal or morally wrong such had been the power of his arguments as a clergyman to satisfy her religious scruples against such a [illegible] of virtue and honor

Fourth—That on the evening of October 10 1868 at their home Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton held an interview with Rev Henry Ward Beecher at his residence she being then in a tender state of mind owing to the recent death and burial of a young child and during this interview an act of criminal intercourse took place between her pastor and this parishioner the relative of her being [illegible] hereinafter stated not regarded by her at the time as criminal or wrong which act was followed by a similar act of criminality between the same parties at Tilton's residence during a [illegible] visit [illegible] by Beecher to her on the subsequent Saturday evening followed also by other similar acts on various occasions from the autumn of 1868 to the spring of 1870 the places being the two residences aforesaid and occasionally other places to which her pastor would invite and accompany her or at which he would meet her by previous appointment These facts of wrong being on her part from first to last not wanton or consciously wicked but arising through the blinding of her moral perceptions occasioned by the powerful influence exerted on her mind at that time to this end by the Rev H W Beecher as her trusted religious preceptor and guide

Fifth—That the pastoral visits made by H W Beecher during the year 1868 became so frequent as to excite comment [illegible] in marked contrast with his previous habit of making few pastoral calls on his parishioners which frequency in Mrs Tilton's case is shown in letters written to her husband during his absence in the West the letter giving evidence that during a period of five or six weeks twelve different pastoral calls on Mrs Tilton were made by Rev Henry Ward Beecher which calls became noticeably infrequent on his return to his home

Sixth—That previous to the aforesaid criminal intercourse one of the reasons which Mrs Tilton alleged for her encouragement of such exceptional attentions from Rev Henry Ward Beecher was the fact that she had been much distressed with rumors against his moral purity and she wished to convince him that she could receive his kindness and yet resist his solicitations and that she could impress him by her purity and [illegible] an increased respect for chaste dignity and womanhood Previous to the autumn of 1868 she maintained with Christian firmness toward her [illegible] position of resistance always refusing his amorous pleas which were strong and oft repeated In a letter to her husband dated February 1, 1868 she wrote as follows

"To love is praiseworthy but to abuse the gift is sin There I am strong; no demonstrations or [illegible] could cause me to yield my womanhood"

Seventh—That the first suspicion which crossed the mind of Theodore Tilton that Rev Henry Ward Beecher was abusing or might abuse the affection and reverence which Mrs Tilton bore toward her pastor was an improper caress given by Beecher to Mrs Tilton while seated by her side on the floor of his library overlooking some engravings That Mr Tilton a few hours afterward asked his wife for an explanation of her permission of such liberty whereat she at first denied the fact but then confessed it and said she had chided Mr Beecher concerning it That on another occasion Tilton after leaving his house in the early morning returned to it in the forenoon and on going to his bed chamber found the door locked and when, on knocking the door was opened by Mrs Tilton Beecher was seen within apparently much confused and exhibiting a flushed face That Mr Tilton afterward made a plausible explanation which from the confidence reposed in her by her husband was by him deemed satisfactory

Eighth—That in the spring of 1870 on Tilton's return from a winter's absence he noticed in his wife such evidence of absorption of her mind in Beecher that in a short time an estrangement took place between her husband and herself in consequence of which she went into the country earlier than usual for a summer sojourn That after an absence of several weeks she voluntarily returned to her home in Brooklyn on the evening of July 3 1870 when, then and there within a few hours after her arrival and after exacting from her husband a solemn promise that he would do the Rev Henry Ward Beecher no harm, nor communicate to him what she was about to say she made a circumstantial confession to her husband of the criminal facts hereinbefore stated accompanied with citations from Beecher's arguments and reasonings with her to overcome her long maintained scruples against yielding to his desires and declaring that she had committed no wrong to her husband or her marriage vow quoting in support of this opinion that her pastor had repeatedly assured her that she was spotless and chaste, which she believed herself to be She further stated that her said commerce with him had never proceeded from "low or vulgar thoughts either on her part or his but always from pure affection and high religious love" She stated, furthermore that Mr Beecher habitually characterized their intimacy by the term "Nest hiding" That she would suffer pain and sorrow if his hidden secret were ever made known She said her mind was often burdened by the deceit necessary for her to practice in order to prevent discovery and that her conscience had many times impelled her to throw off this burden of enforced falsehood by making a full confession to her husband so that she would no longer be living before him a perpetual lie In particular she said that she had been on the point of making this confession a few months previously during a severe illness, when she feared she might die She affirmed also that Beecher had assured her repeatedly that he loved her better than he had ever loved any other woman and she felt justified before God in her intimacy with him save the necessary deceit which accompanied it and at which she frequently suffered in her mind

Ninth—That after the above named confession by Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton she returned to the country to await such action by her husband as he might see fit to take whereupon from many considerations the chief of which was that she had not voluntarily gone astray but had been artfully misled through religious reverence for Rev Henry Ward Beecher as her spiritual guide together also from a desire to protect his family from open shame Tilton condoned the wrong and he addressed to his wife such letters of affection tenderness and respect as he felt would restore her wounded spirit and which did partially produce that effect That in December 1870 a difference arose between Theodore Tilton and Henry C Bowen which was augmented by Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs Beecher in consequence whereof, Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton wrote a paper, which was put into the hands of Francis D Moulton with the view to procure a harmonious interview between Tilton and Beecher Such interview was arranged and carried out by Moulton, at his then residence on Clinton street Beecher and Tilton meeting and speaking then and there for the first time since Mrs Tilton's confession six months before The paper in Mr Moulton's hands was a statement by Mrs Tilton in substance the confession which she had before made and expressing her wish and prayer for a reconciliation and peace between her pastor and her husband This paper furnished Beecher the first knowledge which he had as yet received that Mrs Tilton had made such confession At this interview between Beecher and Tilton Tilton's permission was sought by Beecher to consult with Mrs Tilton On that same evening this permission being granted Beecher departed from Mr Moulton's house, and in about half an hour returned thither expressing his remorse and shame and declaring that his life and work seemed brought to a sudden end Later in the same evening Tilton on returning to his house found his wife weeping, and in great distress saying that what she had meant for peace had only given pain and anguish that Beecher had just called on her declaring that she had slain him and that he would probably be tried before a council of ministers unless she would give him a written paper for his protection whereupon she had [illegible] dictated to her and she copied in her own hand writing a [illegible] paper for him to use to clear himself before a council of ministers Mrs Tilton having kept no copy of this paper her husband asked her to make a distinct statement in writing of her design and meaning in giving it whereupon she wrote as follows

DECEMBER 30 1870—Midnight—My Dear Husband —I desire to leave with you before going to bed this statement That Henry Ward Beecher called upon me this evening, and asked me if I would defend him against any accusation in a council of ministers and I replied solemnly that I would in case the accuser was any other person than my husband Then he Henry Ward Beecher dictated a letter which I copied as my own to be used by him as against any other accuser except my husband This letter was designed to vindicate Mr Beecher against all other persons save only yourself I was ready to give him the letter because he said with pain that my letter in your hands addressed to him dated December 29th had struck him dead and ended his usefulness You and I are pledged to do our best to avoid publicity God grant a speedy end to all further anxieties

Affectionately, ELIZABETH

On the next day—namely, December 31st 1870 Mr Moulton on being informed by Tilton of the above named transaction by Beecher called on him (Beecher) at his residence and told him that a reconciliation seemed suddenly made impossible by [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] letter which Mrs Tilton had thus been improperly persuaded to make [illegible] Beecher promptly thereupon returned the letter to Tilton with an expression of shame and sorrow for having procured it in the manner he did The letter was as follows

DECEMBER [illegible] 1870—Wearied with importunity and weakened by sickness I gave a letter implicating my friend Henry Ward Beecher under the assurance that that would remove all difficulties between me and my husband That letter I now revoke I was persuaded to it—almost forced—when I was in a weakened state of mind I regret and recall its statements E R TILTON

I desire to say explicitly that Mr Beecher has never offered me any improper solicitations but has always treated me in a manner becoming a Christian and gentleman

ELIZABETH R TILTON

At the time Beecher returned the above document to Tilton through Moulton Beecher requested Moulton to call at his residence in Columbia street on the next day which he did in the evening January 1 1871 A long interview then ensued in which Beecher expressed to Moulton great contrition and remorse for his previous criminality with Mrs Tilton taking to himself shame for having misused his sacred office as a clergyman to corrupt her mind expressing a determination to kill himself in case of exposure, and begging Moulton to take a pen and write from his (Beecher's) lips an apology, to be conveyed to Tilton in hope that such appeal would secure Tilton's forgiveness The apology which Beecher dictated to Moulton, was as follows

My Dear Friend Moulton —I ask, through you Theodore Tilton's forgiveness and I humble myself before him as I do before my God He would have been a better man in my circumstances than I have been I can ask nothing except that he will remember all other breasts that would ache I will not plead for myself—I even wish that I were dead But others must live to suffer I will die before any one but myself shall be inculpated All my thoughts are running out toward my friends and toward that poor child lying there and praying with her folded hands She is guiltless—sinned against bearing the transgression of another I have humbly prayed to God to put it into the heart of her husband to forgive me

I have trusted this to Moulton in confidence

H W BEECHER

In the above document the last sentence and the signature are in the handwriting of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher

Eleventh—That Mrs Tilton wrote the following letter to a friend

"173 LIVINGSTONE STREET, BROOKLYN—January 7, 1871—Dear Friend —A cruel conspiracy has been formed against my husband in which my mother and Mrs Beecher have been the chief actors * * *

Yours truly ELIZABETH R TILTON

Twelfth—That in the following month Moulton wishing to bind Tilton and Beecher by mutual expressions of good spirit, elicited from them the following correspondence

"BROOKLYN, February 7th, 1871 —My Dear Friend In several conversations, with you you have asked about my feelings toward Mr Beecher, and yesterday you said the time had come when you would like to receive from me an expression of this kind in writing I say, therefore, very cheerfully, that notwithstanding the great suffering which he has caused to Elizabeth and myself, I bear him no malice shall do him no wrong, shall discountenance every project by whomsoever proposed for any exposure of his secret to the public, and if I know myself at all shall endeavor to act toward Mr Beecher as I would have him to act in similar circumstances towards me I wish to add that your own good offices in this case have led me to a higher moral feeling than I might otherwise have reached Ever yours, affectionately, THEODORE TILTON.

To FRANK MOULTON"

On the same day Beecher wrote to Moulton the following

FEBRUARY 7, 1871 —To my dear friend Moulton I am glad to send you a book etc. * * * Many, many friends has God raised up to me but to no one of them has he ever given opportunity and wisdom so to love as you have You have also proved Theodore's friend and Elizabeth's Does God look down from Heaven on three unhappier creatures, that more need a friend, than these? Is it not an intimation of God's intent of mercy to all that each one of these has in you a tried and proven friend? But only in you are we thus united Would to God who orders all hearts that by his mediation Theodore, Elizabeth and I could be made friends again Theodore will have the hardest task in such case but has he not proven himself capable of the noblest things? I wonder if Elizabeth knows how generously he has carried himself toward me? Of course I can never speak with her again without her permission, and I do not know that even then it would be best * *

Mr Moulton on the same day asked Tilton if he would permit Beecher to address a letter to Mrs Tilton and Tilton replied in the affirmative whereupon Beecher wrote as follows

BROOKLYN February 7 1871 —My Dear Mrs Tilton When I saw you last I did not expect ever to see you again or to be alive many days God was kinder to me than were my own thoughts The friend whom God sent to me Moulton has proved above all friends that I ever had, able and willing to help me in this terrible emergency of my life His hand it was that tied up the storm that was ready to burst on our heads There is no friend Theodore excepted who has it in his power to serve you so vitally and who will do it with such delicacy and honor It does my sore heart good to see in Moulton an unfeigned respect and honor for you It would kill me if I thought otherwise He will be as true a friend to your honor and happiness as a brother could be to a sister In him we have a common ground, you and I may feel in him that the past is ended But as there no future May not this friend stand as a priest in the new sanctuary of reconciliation and mediation to bless Theodore and my most unhappy self Do not let my earnestness full of its end You believe in my judgment I have put myself wholly and gladly in Moulton's hands and there I must meet you

This is sent with Theodore's consent but he has not read it Will you return it to me by his own hand? I am very earnest in this wish for all our sakes as such a letter ought not to be subjected to even the chance of miscarriage Your unhappy friend

Thirteenth—That up to about a year after Mrs Tilton's confession her mind remained in the fixed opinion that her criminal relations with Beecher had not been morally wrong so strongly had he impressed her to the contrary but at length a change took place in her conviction on this subject, as noted in the following letter addressed by her to her husband

SCHOHARIE June 29 1871 —My Dear Theodore To day through the ministry of Catherine Gaunt a character of fiction my eyes have been opened for the first time in my experience so that I see clearly my sin It was when I knew that I was loved to suffer it to grow to a passion A virtuous woman should check instantly an all absorbing love but it appeared to me in such a false light That the love I felt and received could harm no one not even you I have believed unfalteringly until four o'clock this afternoon when a clear vision dawned upon me I see now as never before the wrong I have done you and hasten immediately to ask your pardon with penitence [illegible] thenceforth, it pains me [illegible] to trust me implicitly Oh [illegible] though your opinions [illegible] general to my soul [illegible] purity are sacred and holy things to me Bless God with me for Catherine Gaunt for all the [illegible] leadings of a most wise loving Providence Yes now I feel quite prepared to renew my marriage vow with you to keep it as the Saviour requireth who looketh on the heart Never before could I say this When you yearn toward me with true feeling be assured of the tried purified and restored love of

Mrs Tilton followed the above letter with these

JULY 4 1871—Oh My Dear Husband —May you never need the discipline of being misled by a good woman as I was by a good man

[No date]— I would mourn greatly if my life were to be made known to father His head would be bowed indeed to the grave

Another of similar tenor

Fourteenth—That about one year after Mrs Tilton's confession and about half a year after Beecher's confirmation of the same Mrs V C Woodhull then a total stranger to Tilton, save that he had been presented to her in company wrote in the World on Monday May 22 1871 the following statement namely

I know one man, a public teacher of eminence who lives in concubinage with the wife of another public teacher, of almost equal eminence All three concur in denouncing offences against morality I shall make it my business to analyze some of these lives

VICTORIA C WOODHULL

NEW YORK, May 20 1871

On the day of the publication of the above card in the World, Tilton received from Mrs Woodhull a request to call, on imperative business at her office and upon going thither a copy of the above card was put into his hand by Mrs Woodhull, who said that the parties referred to therein were Rev Henry Ward Beecher and the wife of Theodore Tilton Following this announcement, Mrs Woodhull detailed to Tilton with vehement speech the wicked injurious story which she published in the year following Meanwhile, Tilton desiring to guard against any temptation to Mrs Woodhull to publish the grossly distorted version which she gave to Tilton, and which she afterwards attributed to him, besought by many personal services and kindly attentions to influence her to such good will towards himself and family as would remove all disposition or desire on her part to afflict him with such publication Tilton's efforts and associations with Mrs Woodhull ceased in April 1872 and six months afterwards namely, November 2d 1872 she published the scandal which he had labored to suppress That on the third day thereafter Rev Thos K Beecher of Elmira N Y wrote as follows

ELMIRA, November 5, 1872—Mrs Woodhull only carries out Henry's philosophy against which I recorded my protest twenty years ago

Sixteenth—That in May, 1873, a publication by one of Beecher's partners in the tripartite covenant between H C Bowen H W Beecher and Theodore Tilton led the press of the country to charge that Tilton had committed against Beecher some heinous wrong which Beecher had pardoned whereas it was the reverse To remedy this false public impression, Moulton requested Beecher to prepare a suitable card releasing Tilton from this injustice In answer to this request, Beecher pleaded his embarrassments which prevented his saying anything without bringing himself under suspicion Tilton then proposed to prepare a card of his own containing a few lines from a recently quoted apology, for the purpose of showing that Beecher instead of having had occasion to forgive Tilton had occasion to be forgiven by him Beecher then wrote a letter to Moulton, which, on being shown to Tilton, was successful in appealing to Tilton's feelings Beecher said—it is under date of Sunday morning, June 1st, 1873

My Dear Frank —I am determined to make no more resistance as Theodore's temperament is such that in future, even if temporarily earned, it would be absolutely worthless and rendering me liable at any day to be obliged to stultify all devices by which we saved ourselves It is only fair that he should know that the publication of the card which he proposes would leave him worse off than before the agreement of his tripartite covenant was made After my letter through you to him—viz apology—was written, he had had it a year, he had condoned his wife's fault, he had enjoined upon me, with the utmost earnestness and solemnity, not to betray his wife nor leave his children to blight. With such a man as this there is no possible salvation for any that depend upon him With a strong nature, he does not know how to govern it. There is no use in trying further I have a strong feeling upon me and it brings me great peace, that I am spending my last Sunday, and preaching my last sermon"

The hopelessness of spirit which the foregoing letter portrayed on the part of its writer led Tilton to reconsider the question of defending himself at the cost of producing misery to Beecher which determination by Tilton, to allow prevailing calumnies against himself to go unanswered, was further strengthened by the following, received by him two days thereafter from the office of the editor of Beecher's journal

"JUNE 3 1873 —My Dear Theodore May I tell you frankly that when I saw you last you did not seem to me to be the noble young man who inspired my warm affection so many years ago? You were yielding to an act which I could not help thinking would be dishonorable and perfidious and although it is easy for me to make every allowance for the circumstances that had wrought you to such a frenzy, I was dreadfully shocked My dear Theodore, let me as an old friend whose heart is wrung by your terrible suffering and sorrow, tell you that you were then acting ignobly, and that you can never have true peace of mind till you conquer yourself and dismiss all purpose and thought of injuring the man who has wronged you Of all promises our lips can frame, none are so sacred as those we make to those who have injured us and whom we have professed to forgive and they are sacred just in proportion as their violation would work injury to those to whom they are made You cannot paint too black the wrongs you have suffered On that point I make no plea in abatement, but I beg you to remember that nothing can change the law which makes forgiveness noble and God like I have prayed for you night and day with strong crying and tears beseeching God to restrain you from wronging yourself by violating your solemn engagements To-night I am happy in the thought that you have been preserved from committing an act which I so much dreaded

In a letter written by Beecher in order to be shown to Tilton Beecher spoke as follows

No man can see the difficulties that environ me unless he stands where I do To say that I have a church on my hands is simple enough but to have hundreds and thousands of men piercing me each one with his keen suspicion or anxiety or zeal to see tendencies which if not stopped would break out into ruinous debate [illegible] of me to stop them without seeming to do it to prevent any one questioning me to meet and allay the prejudices against Tilton which had their beginning years before to keep serene as if not alarmed or disturbed to be cheerful at home and among friends when I was suffering the torments of the damned to pass a sleepless night often and yet to come fresh and prepared for Sunday—all this may be talked about but the real thing cannot be understood from the outside for it is wearing and grinding on the nervous system

In still another letter written for the same purpose as the above, Beecher said If my destruction would place him (Tilton) all right that shall not stand in the way I am willing to step down and out No one can offer more than that but I do offer the sacrifice without hesitation if you can clearly see your way to his safety and happiness thereby In one point of view I could desire sacrifice on my part Nothing can possibly be so bad as the power of great darkness in which I spend much of my time I look upon death as sweeter far than any friend I have in the world Life would be pleasant if I could see that rebuilt which is shattered but to live on the [illegible] and ragged edge of anxiety remorse fear despair and yet to put on an appearance of serenity and happiness cannot be endured much longer I am well nigh discouraged If you [illegible] to trust me to love me I am [illegible] I do not know any person in the world to whom I could go Tilton yielded to the above quoted and other similar letters and made no self defense against the public [illegible] which attached to him unjustly

[illegible] WHITMAN MONUMENT

[illegible] Historical Society of Oregon [illegible] enterprise of erecting a [illegible] monument to the memory of Dr Marcus Whitman who was [illegible] by the Indians at [illegible] Walla Walla is well known to all [illegible] Oregonians. [illegible] this end the Society have commenced gathering contributions from those who sympathize with the object and have engaged Mr T. P. Powers of Astoria [illegible] county long [illegible] fore the [illegible] quaintance and friend of the devoted missionary to canvass for contributions. Mr Powers is now in this city and will call upon our citizens.

The [illegible] object we have to be [illegible] urged [illegible] who ever lived in Oregon the Oregon of 1847 we mean which embraced what is now Oregon Washington Idaho and part of Montana deserve to have his services to his country [illegible] commemorated. Dr Whitman deserved it. In 1836 learning of the beautiful country that lay on this Northwestern coast, he determined to plant a Missionary Colony somewhere in Oregon and in the following year he crossed the Rocky Mountains and established himself in the valley of the Walla Walla on the spot where he was finally killed. In 1842 fearing the settlement of the dispute between the United States and Great Britain concerning the [illegible] concerning the dominion of this region was about to be settled in favor of the latter Dr Whitman determined to recross the continent in order to make true representations to our Government with relation to the [illegible] and importance of the country, and to prevent, if possible any recognition by our Government of the rightfulness of the British claims. When urged by his friends to consider the perils of the contemplated journey he replied "My life [illegible] of but little moment if I can [illegible] American people." And then taking his life in his hand with no aid but his strong, patriotic purpose and his trust in God he set out on his long and dangerous journey. Reaching Washington in safety he went zealously about the work of forestalling the cession of the beautiful empire of the North Pacific to a foreign power and succeeded in breaking off immediate negotiations. To him, as much as to any one man do we owe the fact that Oregon was reserved for American homes. On his return in 1843, he was accompanied by a considerable number of immigrants and the stream continued to flow through the succeeding years till, in 1846 when the boundary question was finally settled, the American population had become so numerous, the treaty stipulation was little more than a mere ratification of what had already been determined by the force of events.

Only one year after the final accomplishment of this object so dear to the heart of Whitman, he with his wife, and some fifteen others fell by the hands of the Indians for whose elevation enlightenment and general welfare they were laboring with that zeal and devotion that characterized the early Protestant missionaries of this coast.

The amount the Pioneer and Historical Society have fixed upon for erecting a monument such as should commemorate the [illegible] and noble life of Dr Whitman is $10 000. They think there ought to be no difficulty in raising that sum. It is reasonably expected that nearly every Oregonian who has an opportunity to contribute something to the fund will gladly do so. If the society fail of securing the full sum of $10 000 they will at all events obtain a sufficient fund to enable them to place a respectable monument to mark the resting place of the Christian patriot.

[illegible]

It is currently reported that the creditors of the Eastside Company have placed a receiver in charge so far as the income of the concern goes. This is done to secure as much as possible of the road to pay interest on the bonds. It must be understood that this is done without the consent of Mr Holliday. If we are correctly informed he consented to it. His consent may possibly have been of the kind and on the same principle upon which people are sometimes "resigned in articulo mortis" they have to be. But that is impertinent to the object for which we refer to the matter now. Some days ago when we said the railway had been managed badly from first to last, the Bulletin, in order to prove that our statement was incorrect stated that the creditors, who have a deeper interest than any body else in the question were entirely satisfied with Mr Holliday's management. If they are satisfied, why do they insist upon putting in this receiver? [illegible] Holliday does consent [illegible] should such a thing be desired if the management of the road was already so very satisfactory? [illegible] other officers of the company we understand, are retained. There is no [illegible] complaint against them. But the president of the road [illegible] practically removed. He is nominally president still with his salary continuing but he must not handle any of the money [illegible] king with no subjects holding [illegible] sceptre. [illegible] satisfactory?

LEGISLATION AND REFORM

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Since all three of our political parties in deference to an aroused public sentiment made hearty pledges of reform and a mixed legislature will soon convene we will suppose that suggestions or preliminary motions are in order. With so much honesty in the resolutions it will not be a violent assumption that some of the men who have been chosen by the different parties to make and unmake laws [illegible] intend to carry out the will of the people. And it will be thought strange indeed if some means are not found to be convenient to dispose of [illegible], to [illegible] surveying contracts appointments or cash in hand for all sorts of jobbery. Of course the lobby and jobbing skirmish begin with the primaries and are [illegible] in a sort of truce on election day. Since then, we have had an apparent rest but lobbies are never inactive. When nothing else can be done they take stock and find out exactly who can be depended on in all cases as well as who can be managed in particular instances. But the final battle will begin in the attempt to organize. This word which figured largely in the recent canvass seems to be liable to different constructions. With some it is supposed to be an arrangement similar to that under which the famous forty, whose headquarters were accidentally discovered by Ali Baba collected a large amount of public monies or money of the public. Collection of course, implies disbursement and both processes are made to result in profit to the members of the band who have been at the trouble of organizing.

Another view less extreme is that we are all stockholders in a sort of grand gift enterprise in which a few of the members gain control and manage so that the entire profits are swallowed up in the payment of [illegible] until perquisites of the organizer. But in either view, the great mass of the public do not feel as if they were quite fairly treated. If one is in the place of Ali Baba, or has fond hopes of becoming a chief among the forty, it makes a difference but even the dullest witted see that there is a great disproportion between the profits to the organizers and the absolute probability of any outsider reaching even a low place in the band. In the organization of the Legislature the shrewdest knave who has yet any reputation to lose is usually chosen chief but failing that one of the dullest members is likely to be preferred with the shrewd knave for chief of the forty. Afterwards the usual number of misguided men will come forward with road and school laws fairly copied from those existing in Iowa or Connecticut twenty years ago. Much dust also will be thrown in the air by men who intend least to embarrass themselves with any sort of whisky legislation on the Temperance question. A hubbub is raised which answers their ends, and nothing is done. Then a craftily impracticable or unequal salary and fee bill will be introduced by some unsuspected member of the ring. But the further proceedings of our biennial circumlocution club will soon be in the hands of a critical public who probably need all their patience to read them once. But if a suggestion may be tolerated suppose some one who sat in the Constitutional Convention sends to the Patent Office for a certified copy of our State Constitution. If he be a member of the present Legislature all the better but if not let him ask the privilege of reading it and then let it be introduced as a bill and if it does not upset too much past legislation let it be passed. I make this suggestion with my eyes open and knowing that lobbies and vested rights will oppose it [illegible] bitterly that it will probably be impracticable. But if a copy can be secured from among the fossil remains at the Patent Office it will do no harm to bring it out that we may see what it once was before it was entirely lost to sight by being trampled under foot. Not wishing to draw too fine a point I will it be possible to begin reform by returning to a rigid and honest interpretation of that law upon which all law rests.

Work has begun on the [illegible] Episcopal church at M Minnville.

CITY.

CANADIAN T[illegible].—On the vacant block formerly occupied by the furniture warerooms of Hurgren & Shindler, near the corner of First and Salmon streets, can be seen a great number of Canadian thistles flourishing like the green bay tree of scriptural mention. [illegible] these seem to be scattered there matters but little. The matter of [illegible] which should be sought [illegible] is to exterminate every vestige of the aggressive plants. [illegible] the character of the Canadian thistle [illegible]. It is regarded as the most aggressive plant known in agriculture, and the most difficult to subdue and uproot. [illegible] which is considered [illegible] patch [illegible] growth [illegible] authorities should not overlook this important matter. These plants have already commenced to bloom [illegible] long the seeds will mature and be scattered far and wide by the wind. These thistles ought to be cut down at once and not a root left to sprout.

O[illegible] T[illegible].—Among the arrivals at the [illegible] Hotel at Astoria last week we find the following who hail from this city, some of whom were seeking [illegible] others [illegible] attending to business: [illegible] wife and daughter, G W Vaughn and daughter, Mrs Daniel [illegible] and son, Mrs Samuel Sherlock and daughter, Wm Connell and wife, Wm [illegible] wife, [illegible] Mrs Hewett, child and sister, Mrs [illegible] and child, [illegible] and wife, C von Wintzingerode and wife, [illegible] and wife, Mrs Holman, [illegible] and niece, Mrs Emily Morgan, [illegible] and [illegible], Dr [illegible] H Hatch, Mrs H [illegible], Alex Meier, P W Gillette, David Steel, Jos [illegible], W A Holbrook, [illegible], J R Foster, J [illegible] Wagner and Albert Borts. [illegible] several of the above have sought the Seaside [illegible] and Oysterville for an extended season of pleasure, others have had all the enjoyment anticipated and returned to the city greatly refreshed by breathing the ocean air.

BIBLE MEETING.—An immense audience filled Taylor Street Church last evening, the occasion being the annual religious exercises held by the Bible Society. The meeting was presided over by the President of the Society, Dr A [illegible] Lindsley. After singing, Rev D J Pierce, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was introduced and addressed the large audience for a short time on the great importance of the Bible cause. His remarks were very practical and delivered in an effective manner. Rev J Thompson, Superintendent of the American Bible Society for the Pacific coast, was the next speaker. He addressed the assemblage for some time, urging united and decided efforts to maintain the great cause of promulgating the Word of God, and soliciting aid in behalf of the Society. At the conclusion of Mr Thompson's address a collection was taken up, which was pretty substantial. A hymn was sung, followed by the doxology and benediction.

FRUITS.—Anders & Rowe have shipped to San Francisco this season for persons in this city, 600 boxes (25 pounds each) of cherries. These are private orders only, and comprise only one sixth of the entire sales by this firm. The average retail price during the season was eight cents per pound. When we include the sales of cherries by other firms the whole must sum up enormously. Strawberries too have come to market in large quantities, though the shipments are light as compared with cherries. Apples, plums and peaches are now superceding the fruits already mentioned, and no doubt the markets will be well supplied during the season.

LECTURER COMING.—By a private letter received from Dr J H Haskell we learn that he will soon arrive in Portland and deliver a lecture on the subject of Temperance. Dr Haskell, it will be recollected, visited Portland about two years since, but on a very different mission from the one which attracts him to this city, being then an advance agent for John Wilson's great circus. The Doctor at that time could take his [illegible] straight without blinking, but some time ago he became a sincere convert of teetotalism, and since then he has been lecturing on the subject of Temperance.

LAST WILL.—The San Francisco Bulletin of the 21st inst, says: "The last will of Julius Eckman was filed for probate to-day. The document is very lengthy and was written by the testator partly in English and partly in Hebrew. He bequeathed his property for the benefit of poor people in Rawitz, province of Posen, Prussia, through the hands of trustees, and directs that his own kin have preference. A schedule of testator's effects, attached to the will, which shows that the entire estate is of but a few thousand dollars value."

SUNDAY PICNICS.—The Stark street ferry made an extra number of trips yesterday, the attractions at [illegible] Portland Park warranting the same. During the afternoon the Portland Brass Band played a programme of the best music in their repertoire, and this, swings and other novel [illegible] attractions to the [illegible] attendance. The band will reap a handsome sum from the [illegible]. At Vogs [illegible] the East Portland band produced [illegible] programme, and many visited that [illegible] during the day.

RETURNED.—Mr Bell, the General Director of [illegible] Mammoth Circus and Menagerie, [illegible] at Sacramento, [illegible] steamer [illegible] San Francisco. [illegible] Mr Bell came to this State for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the bringing of the immense combination here could be made profitable.

LAUNCHED.—Last Saturday afternoon the mammoth barge just built at the [illegible] yard by the O S N Co was launched from the ways. She glided down the greased ways, plunged into her native element, and sat as gracefully on the water as a duck. We are not aware what name this barge will take.

RATTLESNAKES.—Two large living rattlesnakes may be seen at the Museum. These monsters were captured in Yamhill county by Mr I C Ward. It is worth a dollar to get a good sight of a rattlesnake, especially when there is no danger of getting bitten. These snakes are secured in a glass box.

GONE DOWN.—The steamer [illegible] which arrived here on Saturday departed down the river yesterday morning at an early hour. She will touch at several points along the Columbia and having completed her cargo will sail for San Francisco. Her return cargo will principally consist of [illegible].

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company are getting out several hundred tons of coal from a new mine sixty miles above Bismarck, the first lot of which has already been received and tested. Three tons of it took an engine [illegible] of sixteen cars 100 miles. It is free from sulphur, does not make clinkers, burns like cannel coal, and made as good steam as the Pittsburg coal. John Ross, a railroad contractor, and James Souter, a blacksmith, have carefully examined it and pronounce it equal to Liverpool coal for blacksmithing.

The anthracite coal mine recently discovered by Olympians is about 20 miles southeast of the summit of Mount Rainier and one mile south of the south fork of the Cowlitz river. The seam is 11 feet thick, well defined along the margin of Coal creek, for more than three fourths of a mile, with a strata of slate of eight inches thick immediately overlaying the coal, and over this strata solid basaltic rock averaging over 100 feet thick, and still over this rock a mountain of earth and rock. The company having now returned with full confidence that their object had been gained, their claim notice for 320 acres of land recorded, and having exhibited about 100 lbs of the coal as specimens, feel confident of success in obtaining the requisite amount to pay the expenses for a full and satisfactory development of the mine. In furtherance of this object, the company therefore offer to any individual or company an equal undivided interest in the whole mine provided such individual or company furnish the requisite means for paying the expenses of further development, which shall not exceed $1,000, it being understood, however, that the parties having subscribed originally towards the expenses for prospecting shall be first considered.

LIVER AND BLOOD DISEASES.

BY R V PIERCE, M D

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which, therefore, remains to poison the blood and be conveyed to every part of the system. [illegible]

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart, and it fails to perform its office healthfully. [illegible] to this common harmony of affection and mutual respect. Their house and home had been regarded for years by all of their guests as an ideal house. As an evidence of the feeling and spirit which this wife entertained for her husband up to the time of her corruption by Beecher the following letter by Mrs Tilton written a few months before her fall will testify

Monday Morning January 28th 1868.—My Darling: Do you know that the present phase of the Christian character [illegible] is devotion to you? I learn to love you from my love to Him. I have learned to love Him from loving you. I couple you with Him. Nor do I feel it one whit irreverent, and is every day I adore myself [illegible] to meet her bridegroom [illegible] imploring hands that [illegible] we may be prepared. [illegible] us with overflowing eyes and hearts consecrated ourselves to our work and to you. My waking thoughts last night were of you. My morning thoughts this morning were of you. [illegible] and help us both to keep our vows.

A number of other letters all professing the greatest love and devotion of Mrs Tilton to her husband are appended. They show that the Christian wife, loving her husband to an extreme degree, above set forth, could only have been severed from the path of rectitude by artful and powerful persuasions clothed in phrases of religion and enforced by strong appeals from her chief Christian teacher and guide.

Eighteenth—That the story purporting to explain Beecher's apology as having been written because he had offended Tilton by engaging his wife in a project of separation from her husband is false, as will be seen by the following letter written only three days after the date of the apology:

"174 LIVINGSTONE STREET BROOKLYN, Jan 4th, 1871 —To Mr Francis D Moulton—My Dear Friend: In regard to your question whether I have ever sought a separation from my husband, I indignantly deny that such was ever the fact as I have denied it a hundred times before. The story that I wanted a separation was a deliberate falsehood coined by my poor mother, who said she would bear the responsibility. This and other statements she might make, were communicated to my husband's enemy, Mrs H W Beecher, and by her communicated to Bowen. I feel outraged by the whole proceeding, and I am now suffering in consequence more than I am able to bear. I am yours very truly,

ELIZABETH R TILTON."

Nineteenth—That during the first week in January 1871 a few days after the above letter was written Beecher communicated with Tilton, through Moulton, an earnest wish that he (Tilton) would take his family to Europe and reside there for a term of years at Beecher's expense. Similar offers have been since repeated by Beecher to Tilton through the same channel. A message of kindred tenor was brought from Beecher to Tilton last summer by F B Carpenter, as will appear from the following affidavit:

HOMER N Y, July 7th, 1874 —On Sunday, June 1st, 1873, two days after the surreptitious publication of the tripartite covenant between H W Beecher, H C Bowen and Theodore Tilton, I walked with Beecher from Plymouth Church to the residence of F D Moulton in Livingstone street. On the way to Moulton's house Beecher said that if Tilton would stand by him he would share his fame, his fortune and everything he possessed with him (Tilton). FRANCIS B CARPENTER

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 18th day of July, 1874.

WM T HICKOCK, Notary Public

Carpenter, in communicating to Tilton the above affidavit says, in the letter accompanying it: "I have no hesitation in giving you the statement as I understood it at the time. It was for me to repeat, in substance, to you and I did so repeat it. It was at this interview Beecher spoke to me his apology to you. The charge that Tilton ever attempted to levy black mail on Beecher is false. On the contrary Tilton has always resented every attempt by Beecher to put him under pecuniary obligations."

Twentieth—Not long after the scandal became public, Mrs Tilton wrote on a slip of paper and left on her husband's writing desk the following words: "Now that exposure has come my whole nature revolts to join with you or standing with you." Through the influence of Beecher's friends the opinion has long been diligently promulgated that nothing was due Tilton, and that the alleged facts were a malicious invention by him to revenge himself for supposed and imaginary wrongs done to him by Beecher. Many words were spoken from time to time by Mrs Tilton to praise and eulogize Beecher which, being extensively quoted through his congregation, heightened the impression that Tilton was Beecher's slanderer, Mrs Tilton being herself the authority for the statement. In this way, Mrs Tilton and one of her relatives have been the chief causes of the great difficulty of suppressing the scandal. They have had a habit of saying "Tilton believes such and such things" and their naming these things by way of denial has been mischievous, by way of circulating them broadcast. In this way, Tilton has been made to appear a defamer, whereas he has made every effort in his power to suppress injurious tales which he has been charged with propagating. On all occasions he has systematically referred to his wife in terms favorable to her character. Further, Tilton would not have communicated to the committee the facts contained in this statement, except for the perverse course of Rev Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton to degrade and destroy him in public estimation.

Twenty first—That one evening about two weeks after the publication of Tilton's letter to Dr Bacon Mrs Tilton, on coming home at a late hour, informed her husband that she had been visited at a friend's house by the Committee of Investigation, and had given sweeping evidence, acquitting Beecher of every charge. This was the first intimation which Tilton received that any such committee was then in existence. Furthermore Mrs Tilton stated that she had done this by advice of a lawyer whom Beecher had sent to her, and who in advance of her appearing before the committee arranged with her the questions and answers which were to constitute her testimony in Beecher's behalf. On the next day after giving this untrue testimony before the committee she spent many hours of extreme suffering from pangs of conscience at having testified falsely. She expressed to her husband the hope that God would forgive her perjury but that the motive was to save Beecher and her husband, and also to remove all reproach from the cause of religion. She also expressed similar contrition to one of her intimate friends.

Twenty second—Finally, that in addition to the foregoing facts and evidences, other confirmations could be added if needed to prove the whole recapitulated statement, namely: that Rev Henry Ward Beecher as pastor and friend of Tilton and his family, trespassed upon the sanctity of fireside and hospitality in a long endeavor to seduce Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton; that by the artful use of his priestly authority with her she being his pupil in religion he accomplished this seduction; that for the period of a year and a half or thereabouts, he maintained criminal intercourse with her overcoming her grievous modest scruples against such conduct, by investing it with false justification as sanctioned by love and religion; that he then participated in a conspiracy to degrade Theodore Tilton before the public by the loss of his place of business and repute; that he abused Tilton's forgiveness and pledge of protection by thereafter authorizing a series of measures by Plymouth Church having for their object the putting of a stigma upon Tilton before the church and also before the ecclesiastical council in so much that the moderator of that council, interpreting these acts by Beecher and his church, declared publicly they showed Beecher to be the most magnanimous man and Tilton to be a known knave and dog; that when Tilton thereafter not in justice, but for self protection wrote a letter to Dr Bacon alluding to the offense and apology by Rev Henry Ward Beecher, he (Beecher) defiantly appointed a committee of his church members to inquire into the injury done him by Tilton by the aforesaid allusion and implying that he (Beecher) had never been the author of such offense and apology and that Tilton was a slanderer; that to make this injury bear grievously against Tilton, Beecher previously connived with Mrs E R Tilton to give false testimony in his (Beecher's) behalf; that Beecher's course towards Tilton and family has at last resulted in the open destruction of Tilton's household and home and the desolation of his heart and life.

(Signed) THEODORE TILTON

Sworn to before me this 20th day of July 1874. PHILO BURGMYER, Notary Public

Gentlemen of the Committee: Having laid before you the above sworn statement which I have purposely restricted to to the relations of Beecher with Mrs Tilton and with no other person [illegible] explanation [illegible] by me a suggestion was made not with my knowledge or consent that your committee in order to justify [illegible] addition to [illegible] appointed by Beecher [illegible] such proposal would have been met. [illegible] never wanted [illegible] Neither [illegible] committee [illegible] have been compelled [illegible] under [illegible] Board of [illegible] constituted. Except in a court of law; but on the contrary I have [illegible] cause to openly publish I demand [illegible] Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs Elizabeth R Tilton. The [illegible] your committee have by their action prevailed with me. No other authority or influence except a court of law could have been powerful enough to extort from me the above disclosure. For the sake of one of these parties, gladly would I have continued to hide these acts in future as I have incessantly striven to do in the past, but by the joint action of Beecher and Mrs Tilton I can withhold the truth only at the price of perpetual infamy to my name in addition to the penalty which I already suffer in the destruction of a home once as pleasant as any in which yourselves dwell.

Respectfully, THEODORE TILTON

Comments of the New York Press.

NEW YORK, July 21st —The Tribune of to morrow will say the case of Tilton vs. Beecher now transcends the power of the Church Conference or well meaning mar-plots to settle or conceal. Unless the frightful exposition is answered promptly and fully the most famous pulpit since Paul preached on Mars Hill is silenced. There is no longer safety or dignity in refusal to answer. Beecher's own hand seems to bear witness against him. Satisfactory disproof of these charges will be hailed as tidings of great joy and the position of the great preacher will be strengthened more than ever in the hearts of thousands. Should he fail to clear himself all Christendom will deplore the loss and the pistol shot of Booth will not have caused a greater sorrow to the nation.

The Times urges the suspension of public opinion to which Beecher is entitled as any other accused person undergoing trial on a grave charge. Many of Tilton's statements are too loose and general to stand legal scrutiny. Others however are most explicit and require conclusive disproof. The investigating committee can pursue no middle course. It must either indorse the terrible indictment or disprove it in detail and break the force of documents sustaining it.

NEW YORK, July 22d —The Times concludes a long article on Tilton's statement as follows: "Presuming always that Mr Beecher's statement involves a general denial of the allegations made by Tilton, it must present some coherent theory of the starting point of the dreary series of negotiations and conferences referring to Tilton's domestic relations in which he bore so prominent a part. Till Beecher has had an opportunity of being heard by the public, it would be grossly unfair to assume that there is no possible explanation of the transactions referred to, save that now submitted by Tilton. The committee have had reasonable time to finish their labors and frankly confide to the public what they believe to be the precise magnitude of this interminable scandal. The less discussion there is wasted on the subject the better.

The World says the charge now made against Beecher rests as far as Tilton's statement enables us to assign to it any foundation at all, upon the alleged knowledge he had of this charge and the alleged action taken in consequence of it by certain third parties and notably by Moulton, Carpenter and Oliver Johnson. When Beecher shall have been confronted with these third parties, and Beecher's testimony can be weighed with or against theirs, it will be in order to form a final judgment as to the truth or falsity of the charge so far as it rests on anything to deal with. The range of the vision of the public rests alone upon them and their testimony, but as to Tilton we need no further evidence than his own. He stands before us now by his own act, naked, shameless and unabashed, or rather he does not stand, for that is the characteristic attitude of manhood, but squats before us a leering, obscene shape.

The Tribune says: "Unless this frightful explanation is answered promptly and fully the most famous pulpit the world has ever seen since Paul preached on the Hill of Mars is silenced, the life of the greatest preacher in the world is ended. It is useless to fall back upon the record of the spotless glory of a career. There is no longer safety or dignity in a proud silence which would have so well become the great pastor and no words of his own to be explained. No man living, least of all his church assistants would have the right to make him open his lips in contradiction if his own hand was not there to bear witness against him. Even yet thousands who for so many years honored him and all sister constituency to whom over the whole continent his name has stood as a symbol of genius and piety and every liberal aspiration will wait for this word to give them leave to trust him as of old. It would be an easy task if he could undertake it. If there be any explanation apart from the revolting one given by Tilton, which will either make clear the falsity of these letters or interpret their humiliation and remorse, the better sort of people in this country will hail it as tidings of great joy."

The Herald says of Beecher's letters: "The more closely we study them, the more we are convinced that the relations of Beecher and Mrs Tilton were not incompatible with those of a true wife and husband."

The Sun makes no editorial allusion to the statement.

The Evening Post does not print the statement or comment but says that "we have refused to print any partial statements concerning the accusations against the pastor of Plymouth Church which come from respectable gentlemen in Brooklyn now investigating by his request. The morning papers to-day contain what purports to be a full report of the important document presented by Tilton to the committee, and that gentleman is accused of disclosing it to the public. We are credibly informed that Tilton emphatically denies that he did so, or that he afforded any means for its publication and expresses both grief and indignation at its premature disclosure. The Evening Post has been solicited to print the document, but has refused to do so, and persists in the belief that any such partial premature disclosure or publication concerning the matter in debate before the committee must be unjust to one or the other of the parties to the investigation."

BEECHER'S COUNSEL SPEAKS.

NEW YORK, July 22 —General Tracy, counsel for Beecher, says the investigation now making will fully exonerate Beecher, and prove the utterly unfounded charge of criminality now made against him. For the first time Beecher returned home from Peekskill when he heard of the publication of Tilton's statements. It is claimed by Beecher's friends that the apology was never given Tilton and was written by Moulton in the dusk of evening and never given or meant for Tilton.

MR TILTON ON THE SITUATION.

Tilton denied that he had authorized the publication of the statement and said it must have come from the Committee and they will rue the day when they gave the facts to the public. It was cruelty to Beecher, and a crime against human nature. No committee nor church nor court could have compelled him to publish these facts. Only Beecher and Mrs Tilton could have compelled him to make this statement and their demand could not be refused. The facts should never have gone beyond the Committee. For four years past I have sought for nothing but peace. But now the struggle is come I can say with as much pride as sorrow and with as much determination as propriety that the victory is mine because the right is with me. Tilton being asked where he proposed to live, replied: Nowhere. Henceforth I have no life. This is the end of all tragedies. They culminate in death. My duty has been done.

Statement of Henry Ward Beecher.

NEW YORK, July 22 —The Herald gives the following as the substance of the statement already made by Beecher before the Plymouth Church Committee. He said it was his duty to come before the committee and admit the existence of an offense which he had committed unwillingly against Tilton and had endeavored to atone for in many ways during the last four years. He said that for some years he discovered in the congregation of Plymouth Church a young woman of many gifts richly developed and indicating the existence of an intense spiritual nature. She was completely governed by the traditions of the Church [illegible] a pure Christian life [illegible] religion [illegible] could have given her prominence [illegible] character [illegible] daily life and Christian works [illegible] the feeling gradually grew into a sentiment of [illegible] affection [illegible] that existed between the pastor and a devoted member of his congregation. He felt it [illegible] pleasant to him [illegible] his ministrations [illegible] become more agreeable [illegible] the publication of his books [illegible] sermons and discourses at prayer meetings he always experienced the light [illegible] pure and tender Christian nature. [illegible] sentiment of filial affection [illegible] and he might add that there was in him the love of a young woman [illegible] with her family began with the beginning of [illegible] with the marriage to her husband, with the birth and baptism of her children, with the many cares and trials of married life, death, misfortune in business, embarrassments and depressions—so far and no further. He admitted there existed between him and Mrs Tilton a relation of affection and respect but he distinctly denied with all the emphasis and emotion that could be placed upon such an averment that there had ever been in his mind an impure thought, or that he discovered in the mind of the lady a suggestion or response to a thought of impurity; that the relation had never gone beyond that of a father to his child and that whoever considered that the relations took any other form did a base and mighty wrong to this woman. This was the whole relation with Mrs Tilton.

It happened in the course of her domestic life that she became unhappy or impatient with the demeanor of her husband towards her. Her neglect, unsatisfied ambition, impatient yearning of spirit which sought for flattery in other circles had contributed towards this alienation and many other things grew into the family relations of this woman as to make it unhappy. Into the future of this unhappiness he would not enter, but it so happened indirectly—through the influence of a member of his own family [he here referred to Mrs Beecher], one who did not entertain for Tilton the same feelings or interest that entered his own breast, one who underrated and perhaps despised him—he had been led, under the advice and consent on the part of another who was very dear to him and whom he was bound to protect [here he also referred to Mrs Beecher], that there should be a separation between the husband and wife on grounds that between them the marriage relation was no longer a sacrament but a crime, and this separation grew into such a shape that it threatened the dissolution of a family—an event which Beecher when he saw the result of the indirect influence endeavored to retrieve. This was the offense he had committed against Tilton. This was the offense he had atoned. The knowledge of this offense had led to all the efforts which had marked his life during the last four years. It had been a life of misery, agony, and pain. He could well see now how much sweeter both would have been than to have lived in that way, to have felt that he was indirectly the means of a shadow on the figure of any man, and his whole purpose ever since the publication of that letter to Dr Bacon was to atone for his own heedlessness and perhaps for his folly by endeavoring to reconstruct that home which had been founded at his altar, and receive through his hands the blessings of divine Providence.

In our home money market the events of the day have been unimportant though a growing disposition toward easy rates for accommodations is noticed. The banks are in liberal supply, and should grain buyers desire to avail themselves of aid in moving the crops, they will find help much more readily this year than last and on better terms.

It is well known that money has been a drug in the San Francisco market for several months, and no corporations have felt it more sensibly than the savings banks. All of them have had to carry larger reserves than were needed and many of them have been compelled to hunt up new lines of business. The endeavors to keep up the rates of interest so as to make handsome dividends to depositors have been unwise. Now that the ice has broken in the reduced scale of dividends we may confidently expect a more active employment of money and of course a more prosperous state of business generally.

Miscellaneous.

The prices of sugars and syrups are reported to have taken a somewhat sudden upward movement in this market, the former advancing ½c @ ¾c on all refined qualities and the latter 2½c per gallon. This is likely owing to a cessation of the war among San Francisco refineries which has been prevailing for some months.

The treasure shipments from New York for the week ending on the 11th exceeded $1,000,000, or at the rate of over $50,000,000 per annum. The total from January 1st to July 11th is $40,940,000, which is not materially different from the amount for the corresponding period last year though $9,000,000 less than for the same time in 1872. There is a prospect that these shipments will be light during the next few months on account of the satisfactory state of the foreign balances against the United States and the renewal of the produce export trade on an enlarged scale now that the cotton grain and tobacco crops are again available for shipment.

The dealers in wool at this point estimate the amount of the clip marketed here so far this season at 2,000,000 lbs and that half a million pounds more will be received before the close of the season.

A Jackson county paper says: Harvest has commenced in earnest and our farmers are busy cutting and threshing their grain. The yield will be good throughout the county though hardly as large as that of last year. Hay has about all been cut and is being hauled to town in large quantities. In this valley but a very little wheat has been cut the past week, but on Monday a very large proportion of the farmers will begin the work all through this valley.

It is reported that the bark Moonbeam having the option of San Francisco to load wheat for Europe and having arrived here a month sooner than she was expected may load with other products here for San Francisco and get her cargo of wheat at that place.

The California steamer on each trip to this port continues to bring large quantities of vegetables and fruits, the season in that State being earlier than ours. We will send back some in return soon.

OATS—This cereal has declined [illegible] A further decline is anticipated owing to the heavy crop soon to be harvested.

BARLEY—There is a good demand for choice lots for brewing purposes [illegible] readily command [illegible] in sacks [illegible] common [illegible] quotable at $ [illegible]

FEED—Stocks on hand supply the present inquiry which is limited at [illegible]

HAY—The [illegible] prices tend downward [illegible] timothy being [illegible] loose [illegible] Wild is scarcely [illegible]

POTATOES—The market is fully [illegible] receipts of new crops of good variety and quality [illegible] The report that in some sections of Washington Territory this crop had suffered from blight or some disease [illegible] it affects is stated not to be general, but our information only claimed to apply to some fields on the Sound and on the lower Columbia. The matter was well understood earlier in the season, but since that time the crop may have partially recovered.

ONIONS—The supply on hand at present is not large and quotations are firm at [illegible] including sacks.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand is well supplied at current rates and shipments [illegible] encouragement prices are rather weaker. We quote apples in sacks at 6 cents [illegible] in kegs [illegible] Plums with pits are dull at 6c, pitless in better request at [illegible]

BACON—The San Francisco market for Oregon has declined to [illegible] for Sides and [illegible] cannot be quoted above [illegible] Shoulders and Hams are unchanged, the supply of all kinds being rather in excess of than below the demand.

LARD—The receipts are not heavy and we quote good fresh Oregon in tins firm at 14 cts [illegible] in kegs 14 [illegible]

BUTTER—The same old difficulty exists in giving exact quotations of this article. A good quality of fresh roll will sell readily at 25@ [illegible] Fancy print 25@ [illegible] on contract. Common ranges from [illegible] while some that offers would hardly command 12½c.

CHEESE—The receipts of Oregon made are light and importations supply in large part the local demand. We quote at [illegible] according to brand.

EGGS—The receipts have declined in volume materially during the past few days leaving the local trade little short of the customary supplies and though the demand for shipping does not justify it the temporary wants of our home market have raised the price to 20 cents per dozen. Should receipts be considerable these rates would quickly droop.

HIDES—Choice dry Hides culled sell readily at [illegible] green 6@ [illegible] The receipts are large especially from Eastern Oregon.

FRESH MEAT—The demand at this season [illegible] without change.

WOOL—The receipts continue to be quite heavy but will materially diminish within a few days as most of the clip is out of first hands. While we believe that stricter attention to some suggestions as to sorting and packing would have proved profitable to wool growers we congratulate them on the success which has attended the season's business. It is estimated that the receipts at this point so far have reached over 2,000,000 pounds and that the total for export will reach 2,600,000 pounds. Choice Willamette Valley Wool is quotable at 28@30 [illegible] Eastern Oregon and Walla Walla 23@26c.
